Imagine yourself on a paradisiacal island, swayed by a gentle breeze. You find yourself by the beach, with a turquoise sea inviting relaxation before you.

Surrounded by your friends, you are ready to enjoy a memorable evening. The music captivates you, intoxicates you, making you forget all your worries. There you are, in this magical evening, engaged in a conversation with a friend.

Suddenly, a melody comes back to your memory, but the lyrics escape you. You try to describe it to your friend, but words seem insufficient. So, instinctively, you start whistling, hoping that the lyrics will come back to you.

The first notes awkwardly escape your lips, but it only adds a comedic touch to the moment. You burst into laughter, joy fills you, and you realize that you are completely happy, in a light and carefree mood.
